It takes only one vote for second term

ALL CAME down to one vote in one election district on Tuesday night in the race for the state representative from the 25th District.

The very first returns showed voters at Newark High School chose Republican Stephanie Ulbrich over Karl Kalbacher by a 346-345 vote.

"I think that's good," said a cautiously hopeful Ulbrich after taking the call from her pollworker there shortly after 8 p.m. "I lost that district but won the election the first time I ran."

Another hour passed before the remaining five calls came through to advise the pacing

RESIDENTS of the greater Newark area voted overwhelmingly Democratic for federal, state, and county candidates on Tuesday but stuck to Republican incumbents when it came to representatives for the state legislature.

Bill Clinton received 50.3 percent of the votes from seven local districts while Robert Dole took 35.1 percent and the remaining 14.6 percent was split among lesser candidates including Ross Perot.

U.S. Sen. Joseph Biden defeated Dover businessman Raymond Clatworthy taking 59.3 percent of the local vote and earning a fifth term in the U.S. Senate.

In the Delaware Governor's race, Thomas Carper took 70.6 percent of the local vote sending a message against negative campaigns echoed throughout the state. Janet Rzewnicki, currently state treasurer, lost heavily following what many perceived as ugly and unfounded attacks on Carper during the campaign. In conceding the election, Rzewnicki continued to maintain that she was not responsible for the allegations made by out-of-state individuals concerning Carper's first marriage.

In the county executive's race between two political newcomers, former county police chief Thomas Gordon and retired DuPont executive Thomas Leipold, 57.4 percent

SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

THE GENERAL OFFICE of Christiana High School is rarely tranquil, but there has been even more excitement since new principal Johnny Vann arrived on Nov. 4.

Junior Jhavan Robinson said he heard a rumor that dress codes would be instituted and rules would be more strictly enforced. "I can understand rules and I have no problem with the dress code," Robinson said. "I know girls don't want to see boys with their pants falling down."

A RECENT REPORT of the alleged rape of a 14-year-old student at Newark High School in October has pointed up a growing problem for the Christina School District.

"There's no doubt that there are more incidents this year," said Newark principal Frank Hagen. "And we're trying to deal with each as it occurs."

Hagen added that "it's a cliché" but the

NEWARK POST • POLICE BLOTTER

Police Blotter is compiled each week from the files of the Newark Police Department, The New Castle County Police Department and the Delaware State Police by staff writer Mary E. Petzak.

Night of aggravated menacing in Newark

Newark police report that on Nov. 2 around 9:50 p.m., a Chevrolet Camaro operated by Brian Cummings of Fairfield, N.J., was sideswiped by a 1987 Chevrolet Spectrum operated by Nicholas Flanagan of Newark while the cars were on South College Avenue near the University of Delaware Field House. Cummings chased the Flanagan vehicle to the area of Academy Street, where Flanagan almost ran over Cummings with the Spectrum as Cummings exited his vehicle. Police said Cummings had to jump out of the way to avoid being hit.

Flanagan continued to back his vehicle and struck the Camaro. He then left his car and fled on foot. Newark police, who located Flanagan hiding in a yard off Kells Avenue, said Flanagan had a knife in his right hand. Flanagan was disarmed and taken into custody after a short struggle. Cummings and a passenger in the Camaro identified Flanagan as the driver of the Spectrum.

Flanagan has been charged with aggravated menacing, reckless endangering, possession of a deadly weapon by a person prohibited, possession of stolen property, driving under the influence, improper backing, fictitious registration plate, unregistered motor vehicle, driving during suspension, no insurance, and leaving the scene of an accident.

Newark student threatened with handgun

On Nov. 1 around 8:45 a.m. a 17-year-old student at Newark High School was threatened by an unknown male with what appeared to be a handgun. The man warned the girl about playing in a field hockey game. Police describe the suspect as a black male in his early 20s, 5 feet, 10 inches tall with a stocky build and short hair, wearing blue jeans, a light blue, long-sleeved button-down shirt, and a gold necklace with a plain cross. Anyone with information is asked to call 366-7111.

Moped run over by train

On Oct. 31 around 2 a.m. CSX Railroad officials contacted the Newark police department to check under the Apple Road bridge because their engineer thought he had hit a picnic table. Police found a mangled 1982 Yamaha moped and some broken pieces of lumber on the railroad tracks near Veterans Lane. The moped, which was reported stolen on May 21, appeared to have been put on the tracks deliberately. Police are attempting to contact the owner.

City budget hearing on Monday

NEWARK CITY Council will hold a public hearing on the city budget for fiscal year 1997 at their regular meeting on Monday, Nov. 11. The council is expected to vote on the budget immediately following the hearing.

Among the proposals in the $19,761,200 budget are three new, full time employees, an additional refuse collection route which brings the total number in the city to seven, and a 73 percent increase in capital improvements.

Copies of the budget are available for inspection by the public in the finance department at the municipal building on Elkton Road, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

City council meetings start at 7:30 p.m. in the council chamber on the first floor of the municipal building.

Parents want more info on other high schools

► CRIME, from 1

area schools reflect what is going on in society.

The Oct. 9 incident was reported in the Oct. 25 issue of the Newark Post following release of the report by the Newark police department on Oct. 16.

A 14-year-old female student told police on Oct. 11 that she allegedly was assaulted in a ladies room stall by an unknown black male at the school on the previous Wednesday. The girl said the male followed her into the ladies room after she fled there to get away from his sexually suggestive comments.

At that time, the girl indicated she had seen the male in the school, but could not identify him from a school yearbook.

Media information officer Curt Davis said publication of the report was slightly delayed because it was not reported by the girl until two days after it occurred. The police also wanted time to identify the attacker before publishing the report.

Hagen said the alleged attacker has since been identified as a student but the school authorities have not talked to him. "We tried to play a low key role because this is a serious situation and we did not want to interfere with the police investigation," said Hagen. "The suspect is a student here but he hasn't been in school."

According to police chief William Hogan, charges were pending against the suspect on Wednesday. "The only thing we want to do different in the future is to make sure we issue a press release for all crimes of this serious nature," said Hogan.

Since the beginning of this school year, Newark police have taken an increased number of crime reports from Newark High School and adjacent properties. Hagen noted that some of the reports did not involve high school students but merely happened on or around the school property.

A parent, who did not want to be named, from the school's Citizen Action Committee (CAC) recently asked why the Newark Post did not report an increase in incidents at Christiana and Glasgow high schools as well?

All crime reports are public information, but police agencies can restrict the access and form of the information, particularly in an ongoing investigation, which often limits its usefulness for timely and complete news reports.

In response to inquiries about making information for individual schools available through the school administrators themselves, district spokesperson John Holton said he would consider what could be done.

"I understand the problem," said Holton, "but I really don't know if the district and the schools would be able to do anything differently."

Parents in the district have complained in the past that school authorities do not always report crime incidents involving students as required by state law. However, Hagen takes exception to this accusation.

"We always reported such incidents here," said Hagen. "But there also seems to be an increased proclivity for weapons like knives here this year. We're dealing with it and seeking alternative placement or other arrangements for students as it happens."

Bike racks required in subdivision parking lots

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Newark city officials have begun to survey parking lots at area apartment complexes, shopping centers, and churches for proposed bike racks.

City council approved an ordinance in October requiring bike racks in all existing and proposed subdivisions in the city. Included are all multi-family, residential, and commercial major subdivisions with 50 or more parking spaces.

"A good portion of the apartment complexes in the city have bike racks already," said planning director Roy Lopata. "As of Sept. 1, 1997, we will require all to have them."

Lopata said the ordinance would have no effect on Main Street but "most shopping centers in and around Newark" would have to add the racks.

The ordinance requires one bike rack "slot" for every ten required off-street parking spaces but no more than 20 such slots are required for any one subdivision. The racks must be visible from nearby streets or sidewalks and separated from automobile parking areas by curb barriers or on sidewalks.

Rich Armitage of the University of Delaware, said security was a big issue because "people cut the racks to get the bikes all the time," Lopata said the city would require racks designed to lock the frames and wheels and bike lockers could also be used instead of racks.

City councilmember Irene Zych said she thought Main Street should have racks also but Lopata pointed out that "there's no place to put them at present that's not on a business' property."

The planning director said perhaps the Newark Parking Authority lots could be used. "But we would need to look at which business would lose a parking spot if we installed them in the street," said Lopata.

Need is greater, Nardo says

FORMER NEWARK barber, Val Nardo, used to be compared to Santa Claus but now he has to be the bearer of gifts all year round.

"This year we've started our annual campaign to collect food and turkeys a little early," said Nardo recently. "We're begging people to help because the need is getting greater."

The 76-year-old Nardo and his wife began putting together a few holiday baskets for others in their kitchen in 1969. "I knocked on doors and delivered them myself," said Nardo.

Since that time, his private kindness has grown into a major effort supported by ten area organizations and more than 150 people. Families are helped with food from his "cupboard" every day of the year as well as at Christmas.

Starting in Advent, congregations at area churches will be collecting turkeys which form the centerpiece of resistance of the baskets. Other organizations which distribute the food also solicit turkeys for the project.

Among the groups helping this year are: the Newark Area Welfare Committee; Hudson Social Services Center; Newark Senior Center; Veterans of Foreign Wars; American Legion; St. Vincent de Paul; Holy Family Parish; St. Elizabeth Ann Seton Parish; Hope Dining Room; and St. Nicholas Episcopal Church.

Nardo said the baskets will be packed and distributed by the Newark Area Welfare Committee starting on Dec. 16. "Whatever we have, we will share," said Nardo. "We make up baskets from whatever is donated."

Food, including turkeys, can be left at the Superfresh Supermarket or Hairtaker Salon in the Fairfield Shopping Center.

Cash contributions can be made at the PNC Bank or Hairtaker Salon in the Fairfield Shopping Center, Puddleby's in the Newark Shopping Center, or Millcreek Barber Shop in the Millcreek Shopping Center on Kirkwood Highway.

Contributions can be mailed to: Val's Needy Family Fund, Inc., 16 Lee Drive, Wilmington, DE, 19808.

Assessment testing distinguishes Christina

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

CHRISTINA School District was recently named one of only two national winners of a CTB/McGraw-Hill Assessment Systems Award.

The publishing company makes the awards for "exemplary" testing programs which "dramatically increase administrator, teacher and student productivity," and demonstrate concrete, long range, and expandable strategies to assess educational goals.

According to assistant superintendent for instruction, Peter Demyan, Christina's system for student achievement testing was revised in the past two years. The district now tests twice a year, once in the fall and once in the spring, instead of only yearly.

When the new system was begun, students in grades 2-6 tested about 18 percent lower than the national mean in a yearly version of the California Test of Basic Skills.

"The goal was to close the gap in three years," said Demyan. "We closed it in one year (with this system)."

Demyan said with the twice a year system the district has embraced an instructional use of testing and deepened its application. Data is returned to teachers in less than four weeks following the fall and spring testing.

"Tests now provide timely, diagnostic data, twice yearly, on the same children a teacher has in a given year," Demyan said.

District superintendent Iris Metts said that in addition to a cash award of $1,000, the district also has been designated a site for other school administrators to visit to learn about achievement testing.

The winning programs were presented at a national conference in Maryland in October. All elementary schools, middle/junior high schools, high schools, school districts, post-secondary, trade or vocational schools and state education departments using CTB/McGraw-Hill products were eligible for the competition.

Civic leader earns new role

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Stephanie Hansen cruised to an easy victory in the race for the president's seat on the New Castle County Council. Hansen, the 35-year-old Glasgow civic activist, garnered 59 percent of the votes Tuesday en route to a 101,029 to 70,118 victory over Wilmington Republican Richard Abbott.

Hansen, a Seaford native who defeated incumbent council president Theodore "Toby" Ryan in the Democratic primary in September, is a hydrologist with the Delaware Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control.

The Frenchtown Woods resident founded the Bear/Glasgow Council of Civic Organizations in 1990, which served as her launchpad into the political arena.

"I started out by team-building," Hansen said Tuesday at the Holiday Inn in Wilmington, "by identifying the issues, then leading that team to the solution. People want to be included in government, included in the decisions that are made."

Stephanie Hansen and U.S. Sen. Joseph Biden congratulate each other on election night.

"They want leaders who are attentive to that."

Hansen credited county councilman Christopher Roberts for his support in mobilizing a voter base below the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal. "Chris understands the political process and knows how to run a campaign," she said.

Hansen downplayed her strong identification with the Bear-Glasgow area, saying she had focused her energies on countywide issues such as the water supply and community maintenance corporations.

She also defended the county council against charges by some legislators that it alone was responsible for the severe congestion along U.S. 40.

"County Council did not get into the development mess alone," Hansen said. "The state has had a large part. I will make sure the state steps up to the plate, stops pointing the finger and starts lending a hand."

"DelDOT has not been willing to say no (to developers). In many cases, they tied the hands of the county planning department," she added.

As council president, Hansen said she would look to establish a better relationship between the county police department and the municipal departments spread throughout the county. Land development and stormwater management also will remain high on her list of priorities.

Local districts remain mostly Republican of the voters in the Newark area helped give Gordon a shot.

Stephanie Hansen, founder and former president of the Bear/Glasgow Council of Civic Organizations, received 57.9 percent of the vote in the Newark-area for county council president. Both Hansen and her opponent, Wilmington lawyer Richard Abbott, were vying for county office for the first time.

Although the vote was considered light for a presidential election nationwide, almost 47,000 voters exercised their rights locally and the ballots in most state district races was up by an average of almost 2,000 votes.

A whopping 3,622 more residents voted in the 27th Representative district, situated in the heart of the growing Bear/Glasgow area, than were heard from in 1994. Republican Vincent Lofink defeated Barbara Erskine there for a third time.

Republican incumbents from the state legislature fared uniformly well in the Newark area including Stephanie Ulbrich (R-Newark South) with 54.9 percent of the vote, Pamela Maier (R-Drummond returning the the Delaware legislature taking 54.6% of the 4,788 votes cast.

"Steve Amick (Republican state senator from Newark) is right," said Ulbrich. "Winning is better the second time, but it's also harder because you feel like your supporters expect you to win and you don't want to let them down."

Ulbrich's family room erupted into cheers, hugs, and tears as the final numbers were tallied and announced. "I'm very proud of these people who worked so hard for me," said Ulbrich. "I'm also proud that this was an issues-run campaign unlike that of my opponent."

Ulbrich said some of the statements made by Kalbacher during his campaign were misleading and that he obviously had a lot of support from organized labor. "They even had paid union members handing out literature at the polls today," said Ulbrich. "All my workers are volunteers and that's why I'm so proud of them."

Kalbacher said, "I think I did all that I could do and showed I was a serious candidate — and contrary to what the Newark Post said (in a recent editorial), I think I ran a positive campaign."

It is too soon to know if he will run for public office again, said Kalbacher, adding that he hopes Ulbrich may "take up" some of the issues he endorsed.

Lofink wins fourth term

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Vincent Lofink fended off repeat challenger Barbara Erskine for the third time on the way to winning his fourth term in office in the 27th Representative District.

Lofink, the 47-year-old Caravel Farms Republican, garnered nearly 57 percent of the vote Tuesday in defeating the Democrat Erskine 5,143 to 3,938. "I'm happy with the way things turned out for me," the Howard High administrator said.

He will begin his latest term concentrating on transportation issues.

"We need more road-building dollars in this state," Lofink said Tuesday from his campaign headquarters in Glasgow's Peoples Plaza. "And we can do it without nickel and diming people over increasing the gasoline tax."

Lofink spoke at length about the transportation trust fund on election night, saying the state was wrong for using it to pay the salaries of Department of Transportation employees.

"DelDOT salaries should come out of the General Fund where they used to come from," he said. "DelDOT should be forced to compete for their salaries before the Joint Finance Committee, like other state agencies."

The incumbent also stressed patience when it comes to assessing the state of his district. "The 27th Representative District is a construction project," he said. "You have to (consider) how things are going to look in the future."

Erskine said she would not rule out the possibility of running again or helping someone else challenge Lofink. "I felt my numbers were up and I actually won in one of my election districts."

According to Erskine, despite the loss, she feels "very good, very positive" about her campaign. "I just think the area could do better than Lofink for representation."

Federal grant for Christina Academy

THE INNOVATIVE and successful Christina Academy, piloted in the Christina School District during the spring of 1996, has been awarded a federal grant totaling $917,029 over two years.

The Academy was designed to "jump-start" students who had earned little or no high school credits, had high absenteeism, discipline violations, and a demonstrated failure with other alternative strategies. "The project has the building of resilience as its premise," said assistant superintendent Peter Demyan.

Administrators of the Academy said the grade point average of all the students enrolled in the one semester pilot program increased by 390 percent.

"The GPA went from an average of .06 to 1.76," said Tom Downs, supervisor for student services. Downs added that 18 of the students made honor roll while in the Academy.

"We want to point out that these students took the regular curriculum and the courses were not watered down," said Metts.

Classes were "high in technology," said Downs, with satellite instruction, Internet resources, electronic "field trips" and textbooks and software developed through an educational management group.

During the program, absences of students in the Academy dropped by 42 percent and students gained an average of 2.3 credits. Teachers in the Academy attributed its success to small classes, team teaching by experienced personnel, and the family mentoring program.

School superintendent Iris Metts said the school district is committed to providing resources for the students as they return to their home schools. "We plan to follow and support these students the rest of their school career."

The grant came from more than $9 million in federal funds for drug and violence prevention awarded to schools and communities across the nation. Among other goals, the grants support two-year projects that help prevent truancy and address needs of youth who are out of the education mainstream (dropouts, truants).

According to the U.S. Department of Public Affairs, each program application was evaluated and scored by three non-federal reviewers drawn from drug and violence experts around the country.

your freedom to express yourself in the wrong way."

What about the dreaded dress code? "That's not going to happen here," said Vann. "but rules and procedures will be followed."

Although he holds a master's degree in education from Boston University, Vann said most of the qualities a principal needs are not necessarily the ones learned from a textbook or on a college campus. "My background is in sports," he said, "where I learned the value of hard work and perseverance that qualifies me to be an effective principal."

"When I sit at this desk," Vann continued, "I am using the same tools I learned from those teachers and coaches. They told me the road to success would be tough, long and lonely, and that I had to decide between working and studying or hanging out with my friends."

Vann was principal of South Boston High School in Massachusetts when busing for racial balance was first instituted there. Although he thought Boston was a tough school, some of the students he has encountered at Christiana are among the most disrespectful Vann has ever met. "When confronted by a teacher in the hall," he said, "sometimes they just keep walking."

Vann said the students lack of respect for authority and for each other must be addressed. He wants the students to know teachers and administrative staff will treat them with dignity and respect, and he expects the same from them. "It's an even exchange," Vann said.

Together with his new staff, Vann is identifying and providing guidance to the students who are determined to be insubordinate. "Most of the students want to learn in a safe, hassle-free environment," he said.

If students are at Christiana to hang out and disrupt others, perhaps another program, outside the school, would be more appropriate for them, said Vann.

Some of the challenges he faces include: making sure students arrive for their classes instead of wandering the halls or leaving the school; reducing the number of students signing in late; eliminating hanging out in the main lobby and corridors; and attempting to stimulate more school spirit.

"My four years of high school were some of my best years," Vann said. "The students here should be having fun and looking forward to football games, the Prom, and other high school activities."

Vann refused to comment on the reasons he was chosen to replace Michael Epler who was reassigned to the district's technology office. "You have to ask the people that made the change," said Vann, commenting only that he wasn't surprised that he got the promotion but it was a surprise that he got it at this time.

District spokesperson John Holton said the reason for the change was simple. "With the emphasis on computers, we needed more help in the technology department and wanted to hire from within the district."

Holton said Epler was judged to be the most qualified of the available administrators because "he's very good with computers."

Vann then was reassigned to Christiana as part of the district's policy of rotating principals, said Holton.

Taming towing tempers

IT APPEARS AS THOUGH there's action at City Hall to deal with towing problems that have tempers boiling. For nearly a year, complaints about towing have surfaced at coffee breaks, business meetings, and, most recently, before the Newark City Council from frustrated residents and visitors to our thriving downtown area.

The towing problem first raised its ugly head during a rumored dispute between two downtown business owners. The feuding merchants called in tow trucks when customers parked on their land but ventured to their foe's business. We understand this situation has calmed down, but two other developments have surfaced.

First, with the opening of the Galleria, the development of the lot formerly used by Klondike Kate's customers into a brew pub, and other new Main Street business ventures, traffic has picked up. To the uneducated, it may seem that it's harder than ever to find a parking spot. (The Newark Business Association and city officials already are working together to solve the so-called parking problem.)

At the same time, some tow companies, apparently operating in compliance with existing regulations, have discovered a new revenue stream — unsuspecting visitors to Newark. Aggressive towing from private lots has grown in recent months (updated statistics are due soon) and many Newarkers and visitors are complaining.

As our front page story last week detailed, the private lot near Newark High School was the scene of hot tempers during an overflow crowd at the homecoming game. Apparently it is legal for tow companies to sneak into posted lots on private property and clear unwanted parkers, even if it involves moving the cars out of sight but not delivering them immediately to the firm's storage area. As well, late night diners, returning to find cars missing, have complained of being forced to wait until the next morning to pay fees, in some cases nearing $100, to get their vehicles back.

At the urging of Councilman Gerald R. Grant, Jr., whose district contains the downtown business area, City Manager Carl Luft has formed a committee to look into requirements and regulations that may relieve what we believe is a continuing and growing problem. Sign requirements and other regulations may be proposed. City officials now are conducting nationwide research to see how the towing problem has been successfully and legally handled by other jurisdictions.

It's a tricky task, though, facing Luft's committee. Property owners certainly have the right to remove trespassers. Developer Fusco, owner of the property near NHS, is unabashed in his efforts to keep his lot clear for patrons of tenants in his building. But we're concerned about the bad taste a hastily towed car leaves with new visitors to Newark's "new" downtown. Newcomers are essential to the economic vitality of many new and existing downtown businesses.

We also wonder if shop owners really need to clear all private lots after hours or has this become simply a legal money-making scheme for sneaky tow companies. (Members of a local towing association are concerned and have invited our staff to one of their meetings. They want to differentiate between the midnight lot stalkers and themselves.)

It's a complicated issue, for sure, but we trust that Luft and his staff will present the council with proposals that will benefit all, and not a minute too soon.

Aging frightfully

THERE WAS A TIME when I foolishly thought that being a grandparent would mean sitting gracefully in a rocker and receiving visitors on major holidays.

I was reminded of this during our most recent pre-Halloween weekend with our 8-year-old grandson, Eric. He has been helping us to decorate for trick-or-treaters for several years, mainly because he likes to climb the ladder.

We put up window applications and a witch on the front door. A few years ago, we created ghosts from old sheets and started hanging those from trees in the yard. Plastic "pumpkin" leafbags are stuffed and sitting on the ground. This year, my husband made

"tombstones" and discovered the messy delights of imitation spider webs.

But the real fun comes when we go on our annual "haunted house" tour. We began doing this in Pittsburgh when Eric was only four, and in the past few years we've tried several haunted hayrides and a variety of houses and mazes. Our grandson was not always as thrilled as Nana and Pop-Pop, but he was game as long as we didn't actually make him uncover his eyes.

This year we thought the Lesniak's Haunted Trail in Red Mill Park would be perfect. Designed five years ago by teens for neighborhood kids, the trail confined to a suburban backyard seemed as non-threatening

Al Stiltz gives Newark another car

Up-to-the-minute should be the motto of A. Stiltz, the auto and transfer man of Newark. Anywhere, everywhere in the latest model and improved car is the service he renders. A truck, a van, a bus, a roadster, or touring car — a fleet of them, he can serve you.

The service given by Stiltz to Newark cannot be surpassed in the State and it would be difficult to find a place where it is equaled.

Library Drive closes

The Library Drive closed last Saturday and according to the committee the results are encouraging. The complete returns are not all in but to date $110 has been turned in. The committee feels that the response on the part of the town people was fine. Much enthusiasm was expressed and it is thought that the Drive will yield even a stronger support than is shown by the immediate returns.

"Operation Christmas Card," a program designed to Citizens of the Greater Newark area are being asked to provide signed cards, addressed to "American Servicemen, The Democratic Republic of Vietnam," and deposit them at the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce office, located in the Newark Shopping Center.

City Gets Councilman by declaration

Newark has a new City Councilman. He is Dr. Robert Varrin from the third district, who filed unopposed for the seat vacated by Councilman John Fassnacht who moved from the district.

An unopposed filing results in election by declaration on December 7 and Dr. Varrin, a University of Delaware instructor, will serve on Council until the April elections, at which time the third district seat will be up for contest all over again.

City of Newark breaks ground for $4 million water treatment facility

Officials last Friday went through the usual ground breaking motions for a $4 million water treatment plant that will increase the capacity of their current plant on the city's south side by three million gallons a day.

The facility, will be located on Papermill Road behind the Curtis Paper Company, should be operational by September of 1992.

Bartender: 'I'm not a Nazi'

"I wore it as a costume," said Peter Standarowski, the Newark bartender who dressed up as a World War II German army officer last Thursday night during Halloween at The Stone Balloon.

"Nothing more, nothing less."

"I just feel horrible that they took it that way," he said of the ensuing commotion that resulted in the arrests of University of Delaware students.

Standarowski said the costume was more of a reflection of his interest in 20th century European history than it was of his political beliefs.

ing a choice as we could imagine.

Even so, when we pulled up in front of the house on a Friday evening, the growl of the chainsaw immediately chilled our grandson.

As we stood in line with laughing parents and a dozen squealing children, the gate to the yard would open to admit new "victims" to the guided tour, while wild-eyed finishers rushed out amid chainsaw noises.

When our turn came, the group at first included four adults and three children. Two seconds into the tour however, the toddlers had a tearful meltdown and our party shrank to my husband, Eric, and myself, and another woman determined to get her money's worth.

The guide, dressed like some hairy monster, never spoke a word but simply beckoned us on or turned and motioned to stop us. Even though I reviewed the tour last year during the day, and knew roughly what would happen, it was still an uneasy experience.

The perfectly ordinary yard, complete with patio and lawn furniture and barbecue grill, seemed surreal and fantastic in the dark. As we cautiously followed the guide through a maze of black plastic walls, my grandson only stayed by my side because he was more afraid of being left alone.

My husband strolled next and the stray woman thought she was safe bringing up the rear. Unfortunately for her, the disguised teens liked to enliven their routine by jumping out after we passed, whooping and moaning near enough to fog your glasses.

It was surprising how exposed and vulnerable we felt in that usually familiar location.

My poor grandson whimpered continuously as we crept along together behind the eerily silent guide. My husband felt required to practically "whistle a happy tune," but the other woman and I giggled nervously or screamed at every shadow.

The entire tour took only minutes but seemed endless. Worse, the "chainsaw guy" was out there somewhere and we anticipated his advent at every twist of the trail.

Finally, I saw the fence and the gate looming out of the corner of my eye. Clutching my grandson more firmly to my side, I staunchly encouraged him to be of good cheer because the fun was coming to an end.

The guide marched implacably toward the gate, never looking back. Where was the chainsaw guy? Suddenly we heard a roar and then the shrill whine of the machine. Behind us the woman shrieked from her oh-so-insecure position and we all huddled forward in an undignified and chaotic stampede. The guide waved us past with a jovial paw and we tumbled out of the yard as wild-eyed as the last group.

Immediately we were surrounded by children demanding to know if it was really scary? Yes, indeed, it was worth every penny — and from our comfortable position on this side of the fence, Eric and I can't wait for next year.

Children's standards different

I WAS HOPING that the recent election would have brought the silly season to a close, but I fear that I'm wrong. If you've been following the news lately, you know that the political correctness police have been out doing their job again, protecting all of us from all sorts of deviant and anti-social behavior.

In North Carolina, a six-year-old was apprehended and punished under the state's sexual harassment laws. The heinous crime involved the perpetrator kissing another classmate on the cheek.

In a society that has been criticized for its incivility and lack of respect that many have for others, this incident easily becomes absurd in the extreme.

I don't disagree that sexual harassment laws are necessary for students in schools and others in the workplace, but to apply these laws to young children is ridiculous, wrong and possibly even harmful.

When I was growing up it was common practice to view the age of reason, or the age when kids can tell right from wrong, to be about seven.

By making a big deal out of this six-year-old kissing another child because he liked her, are we protecting the other child from sexual harassment or are we sending a message that giving and receiving love and affection is wrong and a cause for shame?

It's important to teach kids good touch and bad touch. There are many excellent programs that do that. It's equally important though to protect kids from punishment intended for adults.

Dr. Karen DeBord, a child development specialist with North Carolina Cooperative Extension says "Children younger than 8 or 10 do not have the awareness of sexuality that adults and teenagers have. An instance where a child hugs or kisses a classmate can be turned into a teachable moment where the child can learn how to express affection while learning to respect his own boundaries and those of others."

The overreaction to a display of affection that occurred in North Carolina can reinforce the notion that love is bad. This principle works the same as when parents use physical violence to punish their kids. The children learn to use violence or force to win arguments.

Kids learn best through positive interaction with adults. If you see your child playing doctor, that is a good time to talk to them in a positive manner about what they are feeling and what they want to know. Of course, if your child is 16, then it's quite another matter and a subject for another column.

By being open with your children, you can provide them the trust that they need to ask those more difficult questions when they arise. This will also give you an opportunity to reinforce your family values with your children.

I'm sure that six-year-old enjoyed all the publicity he got. Someday he'll have a good laugh at the foolishness of it all.

In the meantime, I'm sure the PC police are off looking for more pre-school criminals. Let's hope they stay out of Delaware.

Stone Balloon searches for all ages

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

AFTER YEARS OF TRYING to keep minors from sneaking inside, the Stone Balloon is welcoming them with open arms.

And the irony isn't lost on Jim Baeurle, who purchased the fabled Newark music venue in 1993.

"It's an experiment for us," said Baeurle, 33, who also operates the Bottle and Cork in Dewey Beach. "I've spent the last 15 years trying to keep kids who are under 21 out of our places. Now I'm trying figure out how to attract them."

A change in Delaware's taproom laws last summer is allowing the Stone Balloon to designate Sundays for under-21 dance nights. Only soft drinks are available for the shows, which began in early October and run between 5 and 10 p.m.

"The shows are geared to 21 and under," he said. The admission of older folks will be left to the discretion of the doormen. "It's a security issue," he said.

In mid-December, the bar will feature over-18 dance nights on Wednesdays between 8 p.m. and 1 a.m. Both formats will be given trials lasting about six weeks.

According to Baeurle, state liquor laws require taprooms to lock away their entire liquor supply on these nights. That includes wine coolers, beer and hard stuff.

"Every cooler is literally padlocked down," he said. "You can not get to the alcohol in the building unless you have the keys."

Baeurle said the underage nights are, in part, an answer to newspaper articles about the scarcity of activities for Newark's youth. In a broader sense, however, the nights are an attempt to appeal to patrons outside the realm of the college crowd.

Baeurle closed the tavern for three months during the summer for renovations. The $250,000 project included a 50-seat pub that replaced the package store; it also included new bathrooms, floors, and bars.

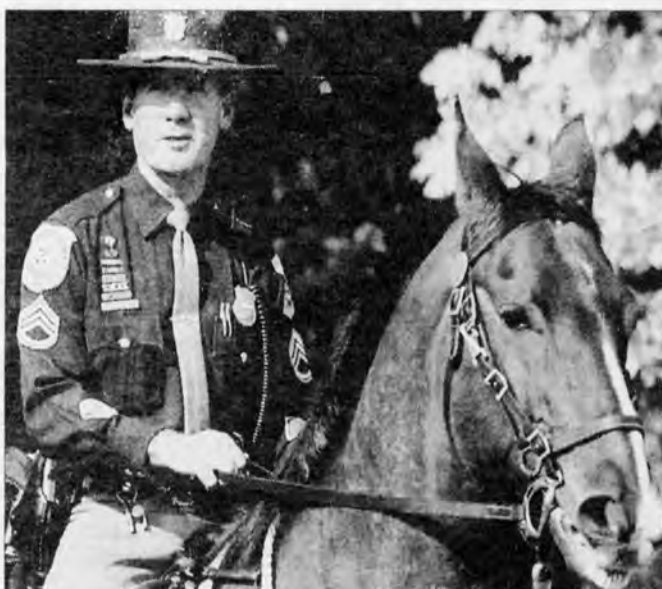

But the tavern owner said the underage nights will last only as long as the city's minors take advantage of them.

"Certainly if there's not a response, it's going to have a shelf life," he said.

THE NEW CASTLE County Police Mounted Patrol ranked first in the nation in the obstacle course of the 13th Police Equestrian Competition held recently in Maryland.

More than 100 mounted officers came from as far away as Toronto and San Francisco to compete in an equestrian event (ability to ride horse in a walk, trot and canter); uniform event (appearance and cleanliness of gear, horse and rider); and obstacle course.

The county police team beat out all other riders in the obstacle course; however, the Canadian Mounted Patrol from Toronto finished higher overall.

County awards also included a third individually and second nationally in team competition by Ptl. Jane Boland. According to Ptl. Elmer Setting, in the history of the Police Equestrian Competition, there has been only one other female officer to place in the top three—an FBI agent who worked with former president Ronald Reagan.

Setting placed second in team competition and fourth in nation for uniform class while

Sgt. Jerry Conway was sixth in the nation individually and second nationally in team competition.

The county's mounted patrol works in areas throughout the county, including Glasgow Pines, developments along Old Baltimore Pike, Salem Church Road, Red Mill Road, and Skyline Drive. According to Setting, the mounted patrol only cover the county park areas if there is a "serious problem."

Delaware Symphony Orchestra offers the 'spice of life'

IF YOU BELIEVE that variety is the spice of life, this news is for you. For the second concert in the Classical Series of the season, the Delaware Symphony Orchestra has scheduled works by Beethoven, Barber, Coleridge-Taylor and Villa-Lobos. It will be offered Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week at 8 p.m. in the Grand Opera House, 818 The Market Street Mall in Wilmington. If you are looking for great performances, these concerts are also news you have been waiting for.

The program is, indeed, a catholic one both in terms of time of composition and country of the composer. Slated to be heard on those three evenings: Beethoven's Symphony No. 5, Barber's Violin Concerto, Coleridge-Taylor's "Danse Negre" and Villa-Lobos' Serenade for Strings.

On the podium next week will be guest conductor Paul Freeman. The maestro is Music Director of the Czech National Orchestra, a post he assumed this year. Television audiences have had opportunities to watch him work on ABC, CBC, CBS and PBS. Freeman was born in Richmond, Virginia, and has been very busy on both sides of the Atlantic. His posts have included Music Director of the Chicago Sinfonietta, Music Director of the Victoria Symphony in Canada, Principal Guest Conductor of the Helsinki Philharmonic, Music Director of the Opera Theater of Rochester as well as associate conductor of both the Dallas and Detroit symphonies.

Columbia Masterworks selected our guest conductor for nine volumes of its Black Composer Series. The first four were named in the top 1974 classical recordings by "Time" and one of them received the Koussevitsky International Recording Award and was nominated for a Grammy. In addition to his work at

THE ARTS

By PHIL TOMAN

Columbia, he also has music on other labels including Pro-Arte, Serenus, Finlevy, Vox, Orion, RCA, etc. His total output on disc is most impressive.

Freeman is also much in demand as a guest conductor. He has appeared with the National Orchestra of Belgium, the Cleveland Orchestra, Leipzig Radio Symphony, Berlin Symphony, and Moscow Philharmonic. His work with the Russian State Orchestra earned him standing ovations and six curtain calls.

At each concert, we welcome our concertmaster, Suzanne Gilman, when she arrives to help the DSO to tune. Next week we will get to hear her play more than the one note while standing! She will be the guest soloist in the demanding Barber violin concerto. I am looking forward to that performance.

In the infinite wisdom of the promotion people at the Delaware Symphony — a wisdom in this case totally lost on me — this is being billed as a "blue" concert. They have also billed this as a "Rhapsody in Blue." (I checked and there is no Gershwin on the program.) No matter your favorite color, or what color you select to wear to the concert, it is still shaping up as another outstanding evening with our symphony orchestra at the Grand Opera House.

It is no secret that symphony orchestras are in real trouble all over the United States. One dire prediction in the "New York Times" said that in the next century there may be less than ten in the entire nation. I am glad our orchestra keeps drawing audiences back season after season.

If you have never attended at Delaware Symphony concert, this might make a great one with which to start. It has that great "Orchestral insurance policy" on the program, the fifth symphony of Ludwig van Beethoven. It is arguably the most recognized symphony in the world. It is fun. It is interesting. It is great music. The prices are very affordable, even when the whole family attends. There are even some special prices for student tickets.

Sales, whether in person at the box office, by phone, fax or computer, are being handled by the Grand Opera House. The symphony's Tenth Street box office is closed.

You may stop by the Grand box office at 818 The Market Street Mall, or reach them by phone at 302-652-5577 or 1-800-37 GRAND; on the World Wide Web at <http://ameristar.net/grand/> or E-mail at GRANDOPERA@AOL.COM.

A SPECIAL ADVERTISING FEATURE

A 'Friendly' atmosphere

THOUGH KNOWN primarily for ice cream, Friendly's restaurants offer breakfast, lunch and dinner menus - everything from appetizers to complete dinners.

Friendly's set up shop on Del. 896 in Newark last spring to take advantage of the traffic created by the University of Delaware and the new motels nearby. The restaurant was one of three the chain opened nationwide in 1996 featuring large dining rooms and expanded menus.

"It's really a nice dining atmosphere," Friendly's general manager Denise Hart says. "We cater to families, especially to children."

The wait staff knows to hand out crayons and special place mats to children in an effort to occupy them while they wait for their meals.

Hart is a Friendly's veteran who has spent the last 16 years opening restaurants between Florida and New Hampshire. Other members of the new restaurant's management team have enjoyed similar longevity in the restaurant industry.

Hart says the new restaurant will emphasize varied breakfast and dinner menus in a clean, "friendly" environment. The new additions to the dinner menu include a tenderloin steak, roasted pork loin, smothered Salisbury steak and grilled had-dock.

We started our meal with the Buffalo wings. Friendly's version of this popular appetizer was a nice departure from the macho hotter-is-better mentality that many eateries take. The wings were flavorful without overheating.

Our entree was the tenderloin steak dinner, with a choice of two side dishes and a buttermilk biscuit. We chose the baked potato and corn. Other side dishes include mashed potatoes, stuffing, french fries, apple sauce, coleslaw and cottage cheese.

The juicy tenderloin more than lived up to its name. The two fillets were quite tender and served with the fat removed beforehand. For dessert we could have enjoyed an optional sundae for $1.29, but we were too full.

Breakfast includes the chain's new three-egg omelette specials, which include toast and home fries. The menu features a variety: Western, totally Cheddar, garden, or ham and cheese.

They are priced at a very reasonable $2.99 Monday through Friday during breakfast hours (6 a.m. to 11 a.m.). The breakfast menu also includes pancakes, french toast and Belgian waffles.

But let's not forget dessert!

"We have the best ice cream cakes around," store manager Pat Griffith said. "We'll decorate and personalize any cake a customer chooses."

The ice cream cakes are but one feature on a dessert menu that features sundaes and milkshakes.

■ Friendly's is open seven days a week: Sunday through Thursday from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m.; Friday and Saturday from 6 a.m. to midnight. Menus are available for both children and seniors. Call 369-8911 for further information.

Newark advances in soccer playoffs

GLASGOW — The Newark High soccer team saw all its hard work during the season pay off with a first-round state tournament win Tuesday night.

The Yellowjackets defeated Sussex Central 3-2 in a game not nearly as close as the score indicated. The victory advanced Newark (11-3-3) to a quarterfinal round matchup against Salesianum Saturday at 1 p.m. at the University of Delaware.

The game was dominated by Newark, which outshot Sussex Central 17-4 and had nine corner kicks compared to none by the Knights. That domination saw the Jackets build a 3-1 lead midway through the second half.

Sussex Central's Joe Federa, however, scored a goal in the 66th minute and Newark had to hold on for a 3-2 win.

"That kind of typifies our season," said Newark coach Hugh Mitchell. "It should never have been that close of a game. But we've had a lot of games like that all year."

"I'm happy with the way we've come along though. If you would've asked me early in the year if we were going to make the tournament — I would not have thought so. But the team has worked very hard and really pulled together. It's fitting that we reached a point where we are one of only eight teams still playing."

Mark Rigney got the Jackets on the scoreboard first with a goal on an assist from Todd Everett just seven minutes into the match. After Sussex Central tied the score, Everett gave Newark its lead back with a beautiful header off a direct kick from Colin Carew just three minutes before half time.

In the second half Brian Gillespie blasted a shot into the goal off a ball that ricocheted off the post on Tony Fioravanti's corner kick.

"I'm happy with the offense," said Mitchell, whose team has often had trouble finishing during the season. "But I'm a little disappointed in the goals we gave up."

Newark has given up just 10 goals all season and has recorded 11 shutouts.

"We haven't lost a game we've scored in."

Newark now faces Salesianum in a rematch of last year's quarterfinal. That match was won by Sallies on penalty kicks.

"It really depends on whether we finish the scoring chances we have," Mitchell said of the upcoming match. "If we do that, we can play with anybody."

No matter what happens, the team has already benefited from its work throughout the season.

Glasgow rips Middletown

Defending state champion Glasgow High also advanced to the quarterfinals with a 5-0 win over Middletown Tuesday night at Milford High.

David Hudson scored three goals in the first half to lead the third-seeded Dragons.

Josh Katz assisted on three goals while Ivan Vikanovic scored twice for Glasgow.

The Dragons (16-1) will play Saturday at 11 a.m. in the quarterfinals at the University of Delaware.

Glasgow ousted from v-ball tourney

CHRISTIANA — Padua eliminated Glasgow High's volleyball team, the postseason's biggest surprise last year, from the state tournament with a 15-11, 15-8 sweep in the first round.

The Dragons' quick exit Saturday comes a year after the team posted a surprising third-place finish.

"I think nobody was ready to play," senior Melissa Latta said. "If we played in [our potential], we would have beat them [Padua] easy."

Glasgow (12-5) finished the season behind Newark and Christiana in the Blue Hen Conference Flight A. Despite losing leading scorer Beth Olney (West Chester), the Dragons posted upsets against state powers Christiana, the tournament's No. 2 seed, and Ursuline.

Glasgow nearly pulled off the same trick at midseason against Newark, the No. 3 seed who won the Blue Hen Conference overall championship last week.

The Dragons won the first game, then opened up a double-digit lead in the second; but the Yellowjackets staged a spectacular come-back.

"I think overall, we had a good season," said junior Kristin Nau (6 kills, 5 blocks, 9 digs, 15 perfect passes).

Nau, a versatile outside hitter who plays all over the court, said the key to the team's upsets was its "intensity and enthusiasm."

"But [Saturday night] we came out flat from the very beginning," she said. "It was like nobody was up for it. I think last year we surprised everybody because nobody thought we were going to be good."

But this year the word was out. Add the lack of bona fide go-to player to the Dragons' prospects, and it's difficult to say the season was a disappointment. Even with the team's lackluster postseason performance.

"I think we did good with what we had," Nau said. "We had good players, but we weren't always consistent."

The future is bright, however. "Most of our team is back next year," she said. "I was happy with what we did. We were such a young team."

Erin Anderson (3 kills, 7 blocks) and Natalie Dunlop (16 assists, 9 digs) played impressively in the losing effort.

Glasgow coach Dan Rebilas attributed the tentative match partly to injuries that forced middle hitters Jill Biggs and Brandi Redrow miss out several practices last week. "With them not practicing much, it just kind of gave us a different look that some of the girls weren't used to."

"We still should have played better than what we did. It was just one of those nights."

Vikings roll twice

After ripping Alexis I. DuPont in the first round, Christiana High swept Concord 15-6, 15-5 in Tuesday's quarterfinals.

Jen Pruitt had five aces and seven assists and Sharna Gray added two aces and five kills.

The win improved the Vikings' record to 15-4 on the season and advanced them to a semifinal meeting with Ursuline Thursday night.

Spartans cruise

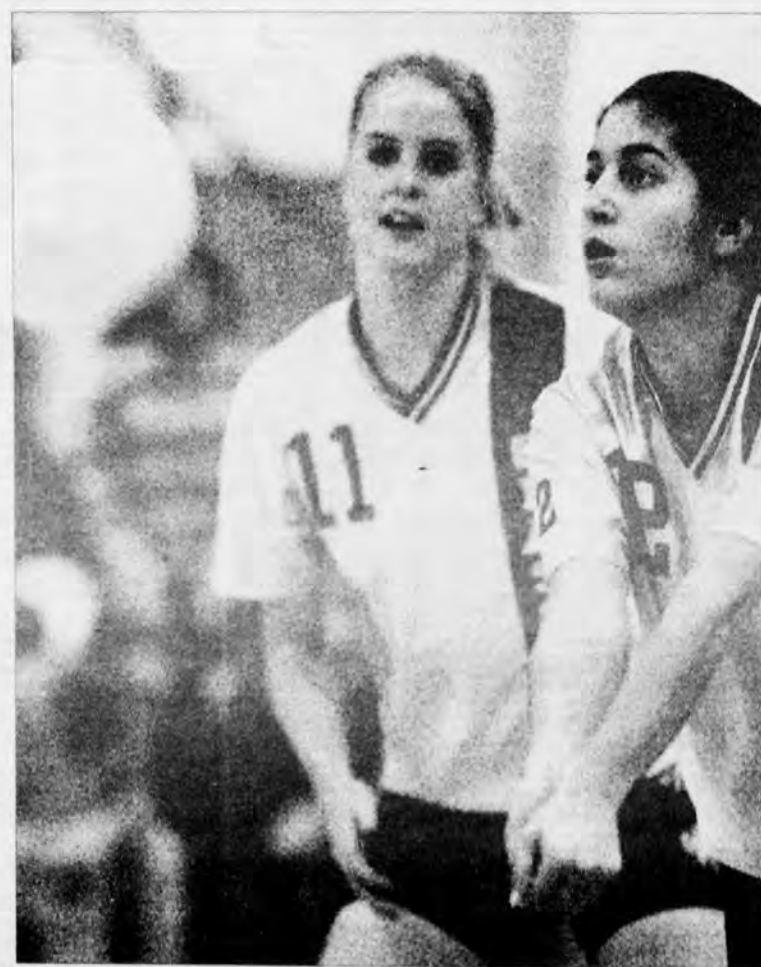

St. Mark's High also advanced to the semifinals with a sweep of Brandywine.

The Spartans won 15-4, 15-5 and will play Newark Thursday night.

Jen Mack and Allison Sternberg had six kills each and Lisa Darby had 22 assists.

Newark advances too

Newark rolled to the semifinals with a 15-11, 15-5 victory over Archmere. Andrea Clarke had eight kills and Paige Cunningham had five.

Newark tops Delcastle; ready for Brandywine

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The Newark High football team puts its three-game winning streak on the line Saturday morning against Brandywine. The Bulldogs are tied with William Penn for first place in the Blue Hen Conference Flight A.

The Yellowjackets (7-1, 4-1 in Flight A) are coming off a 14-0 win at Delcastle in a game that saw them rack up a staggering 296 yards on the ground. It is also a game that could figure in to Newark's chances at gaining a share of the conference title.

The Jackets trail both Brandywine and William Penn in the conference standings. A win against the Bulldogs assures Newark of a bid.

The outcome of the William Penn-Brandywine game in the season's final week could determine the top seed in the state tournament as well as the Flight A champion. Tomorrow's game is seen as a classic matchup between the Bulldogs' strong passing offense and the Jackets' tenacious defense.

"Brandywine (7-1, 5-0 in Flight A) takes pride in putting points on the board. We take pride in keeping points off the board," senior Barry Zehnder said.

"This is [the equivalent of] Newark and [defending state champion] William Penn last year," senior Duevorn Harris said. "This is the game to see. ...It's money time."

Newark Coach Butch Simpson all but raved about the Bulldogs' offense, calling quarterback Matt McCall one of the best at his position in Delaware. "I honestly believe Matt McCall's performance this year — and I've seen him four or five times — is one of the best I've seen in my time at Newark High School.

"He can throw all types of passes. He can hit an out, a fade. [And] he is probably one of the brightest and most knowledgeable quarterbacks in the state. ...He simply recognizes what you're doing defensively, then exploits it."

Simpson was equally generous in describing the Bulldogs' split end Brian McNight, who the veteran prep coach said had great hands and ran great patterns. "It's a timing offense, and they've done it forever. I'm not going to miss either one of them," he added.

He also praised Brandywine's defense and its backfield. "They don't have a weakness," Simpson said.

Newark's performance last Saturday against the Cougars was indicative of the way the Jackets have played all season. Except they were handicapped by the vo-tech school's wet field.

"I think what we misjudged was the effect the soft turf would have on all the athletes," Simpson said. "It was wet. It was soft. It was not in good shape. Really, the game looked like it was [played] in slow motion," Simpson said.

"Our speed was negated as was Delcastle's."

The poor field did little to stop Newark's fine trio of running backs from enjoying banner games. Richie Parson (120 yards, 12 carries), Corey Wallace (89 yards, 21 carries) and Chris Barbour (66 yards, 14 carries) proved a mushy field has little effect on their stride.

The coach agreed, attributing his team's meager point total to penalties and mental errors. But he was satisfied with his players' aggressiveness in the face of Delcastle's physical style of play.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

*Todd Everett

Newark High*

SENIORS can be invaluable when it comes to leading a young team.

Todd Everett and Colin Carew are just that to the Newark High soccer team.

The Yellowjackets, racked by graduation and injuries entering the season, fielded one of the state's youngest teams all year. Despite the inexperience, Newark compiled an impressive 11-3-3 record and qualified for the state tournament.

One big reason for the Jackets' success has been the play of Everett and Carew.

"They have been unbelievable," said Newark High coach Hugh Mitchell. "Todd has played great in the midfield all season. He also has a wicked shot. He's been a huge part of our team."

"Colin has also been great — probably even better than last year (when he was the state's player of the year and an All-American). Without those guys, we're just a .500 team."

The two combined to help Newark win its opening round game of the Delaware High School Soccer Tournament Tuesday night. Everett assisted on the game's first goal and scored the team's second on a beautiful header on a direct kick from Carew.

"That was a gorgeous goal," Mitchell said. "Colin's been pushing forward for us and he's really dangerous. If we had some more experience up top, he'd be even more dangerous."

"Those two really deserve the success this team is having."

Caravel field hockey ends season

Caravel and Christiana played to a scoreless tie in a non-conference field hockey game last Thursday.

Caravel goalie Megan Biddle recorded 12 saves.

The Bucs had a chance to win when Stephanie Mayhart drove a shot off the post.

Caravel also played Padua to a scoreless tie. The Bucs had 15 penalty corners to Padua's four and goalie Megan Biddle made eight saves.

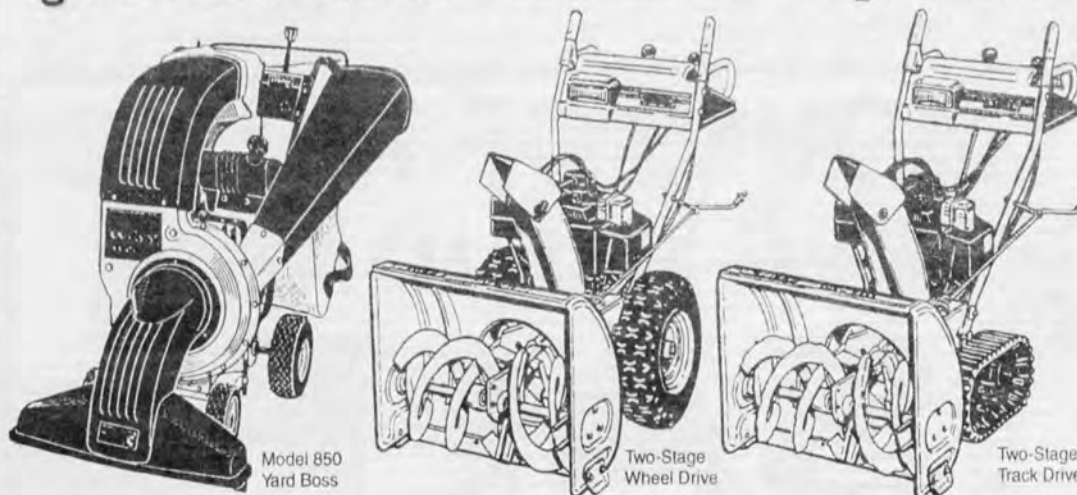

The Caravel offense was led by Megan Hueberger, Stephanie Mayhart, Domino, Stephanie Rice, Lindsay Spry and Lisa Delcollo.

The Bucs' defense was led by Jen Hansen, Julie Capodanno and Casey Wanros. Biddle recorded her fifth shutout in eight games.

Seniors Biddle, Delcollo and Melinda Murphy played their final game as Caravel finished its season with a 5-8-3 record.

St. Mark's slays top ranked team again

Knock off William Penn 28-19

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

WILMINGTON — Another number one ranked team on the schedule — another St. Mark's victory.

The Spartans knocked off top ranked William Penn 28-19 Friday night at Baynard Stadium to raise their record to 6-2 and keep their state tournament hopes alive. The win was the third straight against teams which entered a game against St. Mark's ranked number one in the state. In addition, the Spartans have also played three other teams that have been number one at some point in the season.

"It's fun playing teams ranked No. 1," said St. Mark's coach Vinnie Scott. "The kids are playing with great intensity, and that's what you have to do against teams like this."

Running back Mike Watkins rushed for 189 yards and two touchdowns on 31 carries to lead St. Mark's to the victory. Watkins also threw a touchdown pass to quarterback Ryan Zarzycki.

"We absolutely had to win this game," Watkins said. "We know that if we want to get into the state tournament, then we have to win all our games."

"Physically, we're as good as anybody. We just have to keep our mental errors out and we can beat anybody."

Leading 21-19 with 2:30 remaining in the game, Watkins sealed the victory by intercepting a pass. Six running plays later — all by Watkins — the tailback bulled into the end-zone with just 56 seconds to play to provide the final margin.

The Spartans, which were hampered in an early-season loss to Newark by the lack of a strong passing game, displayed a diverse attack against William Penn.

Watkins prowess running the ball was evident in his statistics, but Zarzycki also had a fine night throwing the ball. The Spartans completed nine of 15 passes for 149 yards. Split end Billy Cooper was a major part of the offense, catching five passes including a 29-yard touchdown reception.

The passing game also came up with one of the game's biggest plays. Leading by just two points and facing a third down and long situation with just 4:30 left in the game, Zarzycki connected with tight end Brett Davis for a big first down. The play enabled the Spartans to run two more minutes off the clock before relinquishing the ball to the Colonials very late in the contest.

"We're getting both the passing game and the running game going very well right now," Scott said. "Ryan has improved a lot over the last several games and it makes it tough to just concentrate on stopping the run."

Despite the lack of a number one team on the schedule this week, it doesn't get much easier for the Spartans. St. Mark's faces archrival Salesianum Friday night at Baynard Stadium in another big game that could affect its playoff chances.

"We just have to keep winning," Watkins said. "We know what we have to do."

“It's fun playing teams No. 1.”

VINNE SCOTT
ST. MARK'S FOOTBALL COACH

Blue Hens face 'toughest opponent in 15 years' in Navy

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The University of Delaware football team's roller coaster season continues.

The Blue Hens dropped a heartbreaking overtime decision to conference rival William & Mary last week and a once bright postseason outlook has suddenly turned a bit dimmer.

Delaware entered last week's contest with just one loss and riding high following a big conference victory over James Madison. Now, with a 7-2 record following the loss to the Tribe, the Hens play Division I-A Navy, who sports a 5-2 record and its best team in over a decade.

"This is the best team we've played in 15 years," said Delaware coach Tubby Raymond. "This is a far better team than that Napoleon McCallum team we faced in 1985. We've got our hands full."

With an 8-3 record no sure bet to make the NCAA's I-AA Tournament, the Navy game has gone from a prestigious measuring stick game to almost a must win. Villanova and William &

Mary both own 5-1 conference marks and wins over Delaware. The Hens must hope for some good breaks in the remaining conference games involving other teams, and that the NCAA committee considers taking a third Yankee Conference team.

Navy, a 54-27 loser to Notre Dame last time out in Dublin, Ireland, is off to its best start since 1981. The Midshipmen have a strong wishbone attack that has produced a running game that ranks fifth in the country among Division I-A teams (289 yards per game). They also have already defeated an Air Force team that beat Notre Dame and a Wake Forest team that beat Northwestern.

"I don't remember anything like this," Raymond said of his team's task. "It would take a superb effort by our football team — a much harder effort than anything we've done so far."

"I've always said that the biggest difference between levels of football in college is intensity. And I believe intensity is a mind-set. I really believe that."

Leading the way for Navy is quarterback Chris McCoy, who has amassed 715 yards and nine touchdowns rushing. Fullback Omar Nelson has compiled 556 yards and seven TDs and tailback Tim Canada has 331 yards.

The Delaware players realize how good Navy is and welcome the opportunity to play up a level.

"I love it," said Delaware lineman Mark Hondru. "It's a great challenge."

"We have the talent. If we play to our potential, we can do anything we want. This is the week to do it. This is the week to step up."

Navy, on the other hand, has its own goals.

"We have to regroup from the Notre Dame game," said Navy coach Charlie Weatherbie, who is 1-0 against Delaware. "Delaware has a fine football team. We'll have to play well to have a chance. They have a great quarterback and an improved defense from last year."

"We also know they have a lot of tradition and a lot of pride in the program."

The Midshipmen are trying to restore their tradition and pride. They need one more win this season to gain their first winning season since 1982.

NEWARK POST ♦ SPORTS

POST PICKS OF THE WEEK

We turned a perfect 6-0 record last week to improve the season record to 29-7 — an impressive .806 percentage.

The unbeaten week included St. Mark's upset of top-ranked William Penn.

But that was last week and we have six more games to look at this week. The playoffs loom closer and the significance of some games increases dramatically.

GLASGOW (2-6) VS. MOUNT PLEASANT (1-7) — Friday night at Glasgow, 7. The Dragons and Green Knights are both fighting to stay out of the Flight A cellar. The Dragons, however, have a much better chance. Despite their 2-6 record, they have played better recently evidenced by a strong first half against Brandywine.

Mt. Pleasant, on the other hand, was beaten badly by Newark and topped last week by Caravel. The Pick: Glasgow 16, Mt. Pleasant 13.

ST. MARK'S (6-2) VS. SALESIANUM (3-5) — Friday night at Baynard Stadium, 7:30. This is one of those classic "throw the records out the window" game.

The Spartans still harbor hopes of qualifying for the state tournament. They have played an incredibly tough schedule that has included five teams that have been ranked number one in the state at some point in the season.

They also have played a once beaten Concord team and a 4-4 Delecastle team. Needless to say, the Spartans have proved to be one of the state's best. Sallies, on the other hand, started very slowly. But an upset of Coatesville got things going.

The Sals have also beaten Middletown and a tough Baltimore Poly squad. It should be a very emotional and exciting game. The Pick: St. Mark's 10, Sallies 7.

CHRISTIANA (4-4) VS. DELCASTLE (4-4) — Saturday morning at Delecastle, 10:30. The Cougars have played very well all year while Christiana has had its troubles. The fact that both teams have a 4-4 record and we can still say that is a testament to the expectations of the two programs.

It should be a very competitive football game but the Vikings should also find a way to prevail. The Pick: Christiana 14, Delecastle 8.

NEWARK (7-1) VS. BRANDYWINE (7-1) — Saturday morning at Brandywine, 10:30. It doesn't get a whole lot bigger than this. Both teams are 7-1, both teams are hoping for a conference title, both teams are looking toward the state tournament.

Brandywine, however, is the team with the unbeaten conference record. Newark needs this game to have a shot at a share of the league title. It also wants to keep its momentum going toward the playoffs. The Pick: Newark 28, Brandywine 20.

HODGSON (4-4) VS. MCKEAN (0-8) — Saturday after-

Kickers top Talons

The DSB Kickers defeated the Kirkwood Talons in Delco League play. The Kickers improved their record to 5-3-1 in the league and 7-4-2 overall.

KSC Twisters triumph

Katie ATtenberger scored three goals to lead the KSC Twisters to a 7-0 win over the GCVSA Travelers. Anna Lewis scored twice and Ashley Fogelman and Danielle Weaver had one goal each.

The win helped the Twisters complete and undefeated season in which they gave up just two goals all year. Heather Richardson, Katie Thomaides, Megan Watson and Michelle Betty helped the offense while Beth Kitchin, Stephanie Kappler and Erin Konrad led the defense.

Attenberger, Kitchin, Konrad and Lewis earned the shutout in goal.

Holy Angels wins 'O' title

The Holy Angels varsity soccer team defeated St. Hedwigs 2-0 to capture the O division championship of the CYO playoffs.

The offense was led by Brandon Delchene, Nick Blanco, Cara Liter, Sue Carbine, Brian Newcott, Ronnie White, Andrew Johnston and Matt Chance. The defense was led by goalkeeper Phil Walsh, Kevin Cusack, Brian Vanderslice, Chris Litwin, Sara Barbas, Chris McEntee and Bobby Genau.

Genau scored the first goal on an assist from Vanderslice while Jordyn Mattie assisted Vanderslice on the second.

The Angels advanced the championship with a 2-1 noon at Hodgson, 1:30. The Silver Eagles played a very strong game against a good Concord team last week.

The Highlanders have had a rough season. A win will help Hodgson assure a non-losing season. The Pick: Hodgson 26, Hodgson 6.

CARAVEL (8-0) VS. ST. ELIZABETH (7-1) — Saturday night at Baynard Stadium, 7:30. The Bucs are the state's last unbeaten team.

The Vikings are one of the state's best teams in either division. This game is probably just a prelude to a later matchup in the Division II state tournament. The game should be an exciting one but, right now, the Vikings appear a little stronger. The Pick: St. Elizabeth 20, Caravel 14.

YOUTH SOCCER RESULTS

shootout victory over St. Ann's. Litwin scored the team's only regulation goal while Delchene, Vanderslice and Walsh scored in the shootout.

The team was coached by Kevin McCormick and Bill McEntee.

Blast win two, tie one

The DFC Blast won two games and tied one last weekend.

The Blast ripped the Typhoons 7-0 with Todd Brandt leading the way with three goals. Tom Boettner, Eric Altemus, Chris Maczynski and Jon Sepp each scored once in the win.

The Blast also defeated the Hockessin Storm 2-1 behind goals from Andy Camac and Patrick Hudson.

The team played to a 2-2 tie with undefeated Queen Anne's United as well. Chris Carlton scored the first goal while Joel Rossi scored the second.

The team defense was led by Mark Lloyd, Drew Walstrum, Jason Long, Allan Sylvester and John Brayman. Goalkeeping duties were shared by Maczynski, Hudson, Altemus and Brandt.

Hawks top Spirit

The Delaware United FC Hawks earned a 3-0 win over the CSA Spirit Sunday.

Matt Angeloni scored an unassisted goal early in the first half while Mike Zawislak and Mike Schoenbeck scored in the second half on assists from Zak Golladay and Blake Willey.

REVIEWED FOR SPEEDING
TURKEY THOMAS

ANYTOWN, USA 123 45

Happy Thanksgiving, Turkey.

Thanksgiving is one of our nation's most travelled holidays. Don't be a turkey - obey the posted speed limit and adapt your driving to road and weather conditions.

And remember that speeding can cost you more than your license. An average of 115 people die each day in motor vehicle crashes and approximately 30 percent of all fatal crashes are speed-related.
